Local Notes.

To The Unpaid Tax-Payers of Garrard County.

I am bound to make a final settlement as Sheriff on January 1st, 1905, and all those owing me taxes for 1904, will please call and settle at once and by so doing will save cost and trouble. Yours sincerely, W. L. Lawson, 12-16 M Sheriff Garrard County.

Indicted for Murder.

Clarence Embry was indicted by the grand jury for murder, he having done the shooting in the Lowell trouble mentioned in our last issue. We were mistaken in saying two were killed, as the third negro was only wounded.

A Nice Supper.

Some of his many Lancaster friends prepared a most delightful goose supper in honor of Judge Bell, and it was served to quite a large gathering of friends in the circuit court room Friday evening. Although Judge Bell has been coming to Lancaster for a very short while, yet he has made as many friends, friends who will stick to him through thick and thin, than any judge the circuit has had. He is a fine judge, and has the happy trait of mingling with the people and making a friend of everyone he meets.

Next Monday will be county court day, but it's a legal holiday. This, however, will not interfere with the paying of your subscription to The Record.

Oil Company Indicted.

The grand jury returned forty-five indictments against the Standard Oil Company for "peddling" in Lancaster. The company sends one of its large wagons over from Danville every few days, and does out the oil to its customers in any quantity wanted. The same step was recently taken at Nicholasville, the wagons running to that point from Danville.

Business Change at Paint Lick.

Mr R. L. Jennings, of Paint Lick, has sold his entire stock of goods to Mr Cecil Broadus, of this county and will give possession at once. As stated in a recent issue of The Record, Mr Jennings' health is not the best, and he will go to California with his father-in-law, Mr J. C. Thompson, of this city. Mr Jennings has been engaged in business at Paint Lick for several years, and has built up a splendid trade. He is a very deserving young man, being a Christian and an honest man in every way. The Record joins many citizens in regretting the departure of Mr Jennings, and trusts that he will soon be fully restored in health and return to our midst.

Remember that county court day (26) falls on a holiday, and the banks will be closed. 3t

If you have no bank account with the Provident Savings Bank & Trust Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, "that's your fault". This bank receives accounts of the rich and the poor and gives both the same accommodations. Send for their "booklet" and open an account without delay. Its to your welfare.

Will Not Permit It.

City Attorney G. Bright Swinebroad wanted to know where we heard that the City Council would permit the shooting of roman candles, rockets, etc., for a few hours next Saturday night. He said such was not the case and it would not be permitted, every effort will be made to prevent it, etc. Well, we sincerely trust that it will be prevented, as it is not only annoying but dangerous to person and property. So here's hoping the city sages will succeed in their effort to suppress it.

Banks Closed.

Monday, the 26, being a legal holiday, the banks will be closed. This is also court day, and we call attention of the people to the fact that no business can be transacted, that is, no legal transactions can be had. They will be closed on the following Monday, Jan. 1. 3c

A Loss to Lancaster.

It is with deep regret that The Record announces the determination of Mr John M Logan to wind up his business affairs in Lancaster and locate in another city. His step is also regretted by all citizens who appreciate a hustler and a good man. While Lancaster has many citizens who jump in and rustle for the town, yet there is room for more and none to give up. What any town needs is progressive, energetic citizens, with no moss on their backs and who are always with you in any undertaking for the betterment of the town. Such a man is Mr Logan, and his departure is greatly deplored by those who are for up-to-date methods and improvements.

Mr Logan was born in Garrard county and accepted a clerkship in the dry goods store of W. H. Smith, in the year 1870. His ability is shown by the fact that in a very short time he was a member of the firm. While he has traveled for several years, yet you may say all his time has been given to the mercantile business in Lancaster, and the fact that he today commands one of the best patronages, proves the high estimation our people place upon him.

He goes to New York to engage in business, that is, his firm represents eight of the largest hosiery and underwear factories in the country, and will sell exclusively to jobbers. His new venture will not require so much time as now required, and he will make more money: He has not yet disposed of the large stock of goods in this Sticking to It.

We notice that there is a good deal connected with sticking to a thing. For instance, we know of a locality where the farmers have for 15 years stuck to the potato as a crop. While some years they make nothing at all out of them and have to feed them, the paying year come often enough, so that, taking an average of 10 years, they find the potato one of the most useful crops to raise. Again, take the man who sticks to the dairy year after year. This man not only almost invariably has a rich and productive farm, but he is usually out of debt and has money in the bank. True, he runs this dairy at times when it does not pay, but in the long run he finds that it pays and pays well. The readiness with which the average farmer will drop one line of production which temporarily does not pay and seize upon some other which may be having a boom is a thing to be regretted. It would be better all round if there was more conservatism on this matter, a more general diversification of production. Experience teaches that the best time to take hold of any special thing is the time when every one else is quitting it and when it is being generally sold below the actual cost of production.
